TRIPLETS!

Last year we kept an eye on local lad, Adam Peaty, in Strictly Come Dancing. I suggest we keep an eye on Matt Goss this year

You may remember 'Bros' Matt and his twin brother Luke who joined with their friend Craig Logan to form the trio who were thought of as Triplets! The group sold millions of records, appearing at Wembley in front of 77,000 audience.

I remember talking about them when they were at their peak at the John Taylor High School first year service held in church early in the first term each year. Just the 'on board' topic when talking about the Taylor triplets, who had at their time been noteworthy.

John Taylor and his brothers Roland and Nathaniel are seen on the John Taylor Coat of Arms at various places in the church. A brief account being appropriate at the service. The special significant being they were seen by Henry VII while he was staying at Tutbury Castle... triplets were an extremely rare sight at the time. He promised to educate them if they came to manhood. The history/guide book in church gives more details.

So... the Taylor triplets were as well known as the 'Bros' triplets of 1988! So keep an eye out for Matt on 'Strictly' remembering the Taylor connection!!!

There will be many friends we have known over the years, perhaps all contact has gone, and perhaps we just send a Christmas card! We have thought about supporting others over the weeks. What about making contact again with someone we have almost forgotten. It may do you both good, you never know, you may be just the person they need.
